National Pest Management Association to Once Again Present the Nuisance Bird and Wildlife Management Conference & Marketplace in November

Meeting to be held in Indianapolis

March 16, 2009 (Fairfax, VA) – The National Pest Management Association (NPMA) is pleased to announce it will once again present the Nuisance Bird and Wildlife Management Conference & Marketplace in the fall. This year's meeting will be held at in Indianapolis, Indiana, November 19-20, 2009 at the Westin Indianapolis.

The two-day meeting will include two tracks - one for companies that have been providing nuisance bird and wildlife management services for several years or more, and another for companies that have recently started to offer services in this sector, or are considering to enter this market. The meeting will also include a vendor trade show and networking opportunities.

“Based on the overwhelming success of last year’s inaugural meeting and the increased growth in the nuisance bird and wildlife management sector of the pest management industry, we are pleased to offer this educational and networking opportunity in November,” said Rob Lederer, executive vice president for NPMA.

For hotel reservations at the Westin Indianapolis, call 800-228-3000 or 317-262-8100 by October 26, 2009 and mention “NPMA” to receive the discounted room rate of $139 per night.

For more information about the Nuisance Bird and Wildlife Management Conference and exhibit opportunities in the Marketplace, visit www.nmapestworld.org/events in the upcoming weeks or call 703-352-6762.

The NPMA, a non-profit organization with more than 5,500 members, was established in 1933 to support the pest management industry's commitment to the protection of public health, food and property, reflected both in the continuing education of the pest control professional and the dissemination of timely information to homeowners and businesses.
